Two Dead, Eight Hurt In Week-End Auto Accidents

LOS ANGELES MAN HELD IN FATAL CRASH

Virgil Owens, Orange Boy, and Jacob Hartman, 65, Of Glendale, Are Killed
OIL WORKER ARRESTED
Alfred Rennie Accused of Failing to Stop, Render Aid After Striking Man

A SERIES of automobile accidents in and about Santa Ana caused two deaths, injury to eight persons and two arrests over the week end.

Virgil Owens, 20, Orange youth, was instantly killed at 4:50 a. m., yesterday, when an automobile, in which he was riding with three Santa Ana boys, overturned at Parton street and Fairview avenue.

Jacob W. Hartman, 65, 1206 Western avenue, Glendale, was killed on the San Diego highway, three miles south of San Onofre, when the car in which he was riding collided head-on with a machine said to have been driven by Herman J. Werle, 1227 South Hope street, Los Angeles.

Driving South on Parton

Owens, Ford Underwood and Furr Underwood, 1473 Orange avenue, were driving south on Parton street in a small coupe with Dafford Braden, 216 East Pomona street. The driver of the machine suddenly saw the street was blocked for repairs and swung the car sharply into Fairview avenue, overturning it 30 feet from the intersection.

Owens was instantly killed. Ford Underwood was slightly injured, but the other two youths in the machine were reported unhurt.

Owens lived at 216 East Pomona street, Orange. His parents are in Kansas, it was reported.

The body was removed to the Winblyer Mission Funeral home, where an inquest was to be held this afternoon.

Hartman was instantly killed when the car he was driving crashed with the Werle machine in a line of traffic, it was reported. The Werle machine was reported by officers to have cut out in front of the traffic and because of this Coroner Kelley, of San Diego county, has ordered Werle held.

Werle was seriously hurt.

Mrs. Hartman was seriously injured in the accident and was rushed to Oceanside, 12 miles south of where the accident occurred, for medical aid.

Werle and his wife, the only occupants of their machine, were brought to the Orange County hospital, where they are reported seriously hurt. Mrs. Werle suffered from a fractured skull.

FORMER CUSTODIAN OF ALIEN PROPERTY CALLED BEFORE TEAPOT DOME INQUIRY

Walsh Reveals Subpoena For Thomas Miller

Three New York Witnesses To Testify at Hearing Tomorrow

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 2.—Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, has been subpoenaed to appear before the senate Teapot Dome committee, Senator Walsh of Montana, announced today.

Walsh said Miller had been requested to appear tomorrow, but that Miller had asked and had been granted a week's delay.

Miller was convicted several months ago in New York of conspiracy to defraud the government while he held the alien property post.

Three witnesses have been subpoenaed for a hearing tomorrow: Harry M. Blair, C. H. Houston and Birch Helms, all of New York. Blair was treasurer of the eastern Republican headquarters in the 1920 campaign and Houston was his assistant. Helms is a Texas oil man.

Former Alien Property Custodian Miller, who has been subpoenaed by the senate Teapot Dome committee. Miller will appear before the investigation body next week.

Bandits Get Almost $300 In S.A. Holdup

Pair of Unmasked, Armed Men Rob Safeway Store And Make Getaway

TWO UNMASKED bandits, one armed with two automatic pistols and the other with a pistol, the barrel of which was decorated as being unusually long, held up the Safeway Grocery store, 804 East Fourth street, at 9 o'clock Saturday night and, after threatening several clerks, escaped with almost $300 in cash.

The holdup was one of the most daring staged here in several years and threw the store full of clerks and customers into such confusion that the robbers had gone before passers-by knew what had happened.

At Closing Time

The store was just being closed for the night when the two men walked in. One went to the grocery department, the other to the meat counter. Both were deliberate in demanding money and warning the clerks that they would be shot unless orders were complied with quickly.

At the meat counter, $219 was scooped up by one of the bandits while his partner obtained $7 from the grocery department. The $219 was taken from L. C. Sheffield, manager of the meat department. A clerk in the grocery department, Duane Smith, turned over $7 to the other bandit.

Manager Threatened

Harry Sjobeck, manager of the grocery, was told that he would be shot if he interfered.

After the bandits had pocketed the money, the clerks were ordered to a room in the rear of the store and the bandits calmly walked out the back door.

Chief of Police Rogers and Officers Lutz, Adams and Perry searched the neighborhood, but no trace of the men was found.

FARM BLOC ACTS TO HALT DRIFT AWAY FROM ISSUES

Liquor Found In Altar In S. A. Home

Joe Saldiva, 1027 Logan street, was arrested Saturday night on a liquor charge, when city officers raided his home and found four pints of alleged liquor cleverly concealed in an altar built in a corner of one of the rooms.

The candles were burning round the altar at the time the officers walked in, they reported.

The liquor was brought to police station and Saldiva was taken to jail. He will be given a hearing in police court today. Officers making the raid were Assistant Chief Sid Smithwick, Adams and Lentz.

Battle for McNary-Haugen Bill Gets Under Way In Senate

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 2.—Members of the farm bloc are planning to break forth politically now in an effort to stop what they see as a drift away from their issues in the presidential campaign.

A fight for the McNary-Haugen farm bill, similar to that vetoed last session, is to be opened in the senate today.

Tomorrow Senator Norris, presidential candidate of the western La Follette group, is to go before Republican voters in the Wisconsin primary, seeking the 26 delegates of that state.

To Meet Willis Backers

Wednesday friends of Frank Lowden, of Illinois, a McNary-Haugen bill sympathizer, are to meet in Columbus, O., with friends of the late Senator Willis to ascertain if the Willis and anti-Hoover strength now is to be rallied around the former Illinois governor.

A week from Tuesday Norris is to be voted upon as a farm bloc presidential candidate by the Republican primary voters of his own state, Nebraska.

The farm bill—slightly modified but still containing the disputed equalization fee system—is certain to pass the senate within a week or 10 days.

Want Public Attention

Farm leaders are planning to arrange the debate so that the senate action will draw public attention and have political effect.

They believe, furthermore, that if Norris can win most of the delegates in Wisconsin, his campaign will be greatly strengthened.

Watson To Defense Of Fee System

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 2.—The fight for the equalization fee system of farm relief was opened in the senate today by Senator James Watson, Indiana, presidential candidate, who demanded passage of the pending McNary-Haugen bill.

The equalization fee proposal in the bill is the only sound and practical means of dealing with surplus farm products except a direct subsidy from the treasury, Watson said.

"Some say the farmers do not want this bill," Watson said, "but during all the years of consideration of the equalization fee plan, not a single farm organization has appeared in either house of congress against the measure."

"The farmers do not want a subsidy. The very suggestion is unthinkable to the American mind."

"To deny the farmers the McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee is to deny them the benefits of the protective system," Watson continued.

"And let me warn you that any man assumes a grave responsibility indeed who takes the position that farmers should be denied an opportunity to enjoy the American standards of living and alone of all our major groups must be submerged to levels prevailing in less fortunate lands."

MARCH WAS BEST MONTH IN HISTORY

Hupp, Chevrolet, Cadillac, Packard, Graham-Paige, Hudson Smash Old Marks
FORD PACE CUT DOWN
Expectation of Great Demand for 1928 Responsible for Huge Output

(By United Press)
DETROIT, Mich., April 2.—Shiny new automobiles are pouring out of their factories here faster than ever before in history, production statements of leading companies revealed today.

Riding the crest of the automobile boom, as reflected in record bull speculation in Wall street, production of Hupmobiles, Packards, Hudsons, Cadillacs, Graham-Paiges and Chevrolets for March exceeded all previous records.

At the Ford factory, where the old pace had been held down by the work of perfecting parts of the new model, approximately 1700 cars were being turned out daily.

Far From Record

Although that figure is far from a record in the light of Ford's former achievements in mass production, all of Ford's facilities are being concentrated behind producing the Model A.

Enough Fordson tractors were made during the experimental period on the new Ford so that many of the men formerly employed in the tractor factories now are helping in the automobile factory.

Expecting that the popular demand for automobiles this year would be the greatest in history, Chevrolet reported that in March 133,000 cars were turned out, compared with 110,500 in February, the previous record month. Production of Chevrolets for the first quarter of 1928 totaled 334,500.

Packard in Increase

Packard reported that their shipments for March totaled 4423 cars. The company's production in the last six months of the fiscal year represented an increase of 41.1 per cent.

Hupp Motor Car company broke all monthly shipment records in March with 8034 cars, an increase

Probe Means Of Acquiring Salt Creek Field Rights

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The justice department is investigating the means by which the Midwest Refining company acquired drilling rights in the Salt Creek field, adjoining the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve in Wyoming, it was learned today.

Senator Walsh expressed the opinion that the committee could not investigate all leases the government granted Sinclair, while Chairman Nye has indicated the committee might investigate all leases. Walsh has given his information on the lease situation to the justice department.

The justice department also is investigating the sale of government royalty oil from the Salt Creek fields to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company, under contract made by Albert B. Fall when he was secretary of interior.

Both matters are understood to have been discussed at a recent

DAM INQUEST JURY VERDICT IS POSTPONED

Experts Granted Two More Days to Prepare Report of Findings

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Delay in the verdict of the coroner's jury called to fix responsibility for the St. Francis dam break, which cost the lives of some 400 persons, developed today when District Attorney Asa Keyes' experts reported that they wished to have two more days to prepare their report.

Edward L. Mayberry, chairman of the committee, announced that he and his colleagues had reached their conclusions, but desired more time to summarize their findings.

No indication of the text of their report was given.

Adjourns Until Wednesday

Coroner Frank Nance adjourned the dam inquiry until 9 a. m., Wednesday.

REGISTRATION EXPECTED TO BREAK RECORD

Indications Are That Final Figure Will Be Well Over 40,000

Orange county has registered. County Clerk J. M. Backs and his deputies are checking up today on the last minute flood of signatures which poured into Backs' office Saturday, when the books were closed. That the final figure will run well over 40,000 seemed a certainty and it has been predicted that a record breaking list of voters will have been cared for when the results are tabulated.

At the last count, 39,300 Orange county Republicans, Democrats, Prohibitionists and others had qualified themselves to cast their ballots in the May primaries. There were four days left in which to register at that time.

Today the rush had come to an abrupt stop and those who have not registered will not be able to express their preference for presidential nomination candidates when the primary rolls around on May 11.

KING IN NEW MOVE TO DELAY DAM BILL

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A bill authorizing the president to investigate the water power possibilities of the Colorado river was introduced today by Senator King, Utah.

Apparently he will urge its adoption instead of the Johnson Boulder dam bill, which is to be considered after passage of the McNary farm relief bill. Investigation by the president would delay action on the Boulder dam project for at least another year.

NORTHERN PART OF STATE GETS HEAVY RAINFALL

Storms Along Coast Cause Considerable Trouble To Shipping

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Rain that started falling steadily during the night in northern California and valleys of the central part of the state will continue today and tonight, the weather bureau here predicted.

The downpour was accompanied by strong winds which became gales on the north coast of California and caused considerable trouble to coast shipping and vessels that cross San Francisco bay. No reports of ships in distress had been received here, however.

The rains were of great benefit to the growing crops of the San Joaquin valley, agricultural experts said, but probably were damaging fruit orchards in the northern part of the state.

Partial disruption of transportation inconvenienced many persons in the San Francisco bay region. Ferries were from 10 minutes to half an hour behind schedules.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The exploration flight of Capt. George H. Wilkins and Carl Ben Ellesen from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, will start next Thursday if weather conditions are favorable, Wilkins notified his secretary here, L. B. Schreck.

AVIATOR ESCAPES DEATH SECOND TIME

SEAL BEACH, April 2.—Kenneth Webb, 28, of 1237 Tenth street, Long Beach, had another narrow escape from serious injury or death late Sunday evening at the Crawford airport, when his practice monoplane crashed from an altitude of 75 feet.

A physician in the crowd rendered first aid and pronounced Webb's jawbone broken. He was taken to the Seaside hospital in Long Beach. The plane was badly damaged.

Webb made a forced landing March 25 from an altitude of 300 feet, landing in a barley field. The plane turned over, one wing being wrecked but the pilot escaped injury.

FAMILIES OF 296 STRIKING MINERS WILL BE EVICTED

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—The families of 296 striking union miners in the southeastern Ohio coal district will be ejected forcibly from company-owned houses April 15, unless the eviction order issued last December is respected, Federal Judge Benson W. Hough ruled today in denying the miners' petition for an extension.

DENY KELLOGG WILL RESIGN BY MARCH 4

LINDBERGH'S PROPOSED EUROPEAN AND ASIAN TOUR AROUSES WORLD INTEREST

BULLETIN
PHOENIX, Ariz., April 2.—Col. Charles Lindbergh departed from the flying field here at 12:15 p. m., for an unannounced destination, presumably San Diego. The flyer made a surprise landing here at 11:45 a. m., passing up Tucson, where he was expected to stop on his flight from El Paso.

By MAURITZ HALLGREN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, April 2.—The world-wide interest created in Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's forthcoming "good will" air journey over the Atlantic and through Europe and Asia was reflected today in the numerous queries concerning his plans which embassies and legations here have made to the state department.

The first calls were received immediately after the United Press' exclusive announcement last Friday that the colonel intended again to span the Atlantic by air and to pay courtesy calls in foreign countries.

Since then the number of requests for information which the foreign diplomatic representatives are seeking, so their governments may know when to expect Lindbergh and to make preparations accordingly, has been increasing daily.

Japanese officials particularly were interested in Lindbergh's plan to include their country in his itinerary and they were anxious to learn details concerning his contemplated flight across the Pacific.

Among diplomats inquiring as to Lindbergh's trip were the Germans

STRENGTH OF SMITH GROWING ON WEST COAST

Smith Gaining Strength On Pacific Coast

By GERALD P. OVERTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The candidacy of Gov. Al Smith, of New York, for the democratic presidential nomination was gaining strength on the Pacific coast today in the face of determined dry opposition.

Herbert Hoover was practically without opposition for the support of delegates from the far west to the Republican national convention.

Washington adherents of Smith were confident of winning 11 of the 14 delegates to the national convention who will be picked at the state convention in Spokane, on April 18, and thus controlling the entire delegation through the unit rule.

An indication of the light the extreme dries among Washington Democrats will put up at the state convention against choosing a Smith delegation was given in the King county convention in Seattle last week.

Change Steam Roller Tactics
Amid charges of steam roller tactics and threats of the dries to bolt, the King county convention voted to throw the support of that county to Smith in the state convention.

Democrats of Pierce county, in which Tacoma is located, did likewise after Smith enthusiasts had shouted down the objections of dry delegates that "Smith would support legislation to bring back the brass rail."

In Oregon the support for Smith seemed more solidified than that for Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, or Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, the other Democratic candidates entered for the state primaries May 18.

Friends of William G. McAdoo for the most part were reported behind Walsh in the Oregon race, with some of them drifting over to Reed.

Smith, Reed, Walsh File
Delegate tickets for Smith, Reed and Walsh were filed for the California primary on May 1 before expiration of the time limit for entering the race.

The Smith ticket was headed by James D. Phelan, former senator, who placed McAdoo in nomination at the Democratic national convention in 1924. McAdoo's name led the list of Walsh delegate candidates.

Smith's campaign managers regarded Phelan's endorsement of the New York governor as of the greatest importance in the California situation. They saw in the act a breaking up of McAdoo's stand for Walsh will have less influence in the primaries than was at first predicted.

Hoover Alone in California
Hoover was the only Republican presidential candidate who entered a list of delegates in the California primaries.

It seemed certain that Hoover's name would appear without opposition on the Republican primary ballot in Oregon and in Washington many clubs were being organized to support the secretary of commerce.

There was some sentiment for Frank O. Lowden among wheat men of eastern Washington, but it was doubtful whether an effort would be made to win delegates for him at the state convention.

Politicians of Arizona and Nevada were absorbed in local scraps and the presidential race had failed as yet to arouse the interest found in other western states.

Dawes, Lowden Likely Heirs To Willis Support
COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—Vice President Charles G. Dawes and former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, appeared today as likely successors to the late Senator Frank B. Willis in the Ohio Republican presidential campaign.

Although the course to be pursued by the Willis supporters will not be known until after the senior Ohio senator's funeral, the Willis campaign will be carried on, with either Dawes or Lowden as the beneficiary, it was believed.

A determined drive has been started by friends of Dawes to consolidate the sentiment of the Willis forces for him, and it was understood today the vice president has been asked not to disavow the move.

On the other hand 34 of the Willis candidates for national convention delegates have endorsed Lowden as their second choice and farm bloc leaders have encouraged the Lowden candidacy, believing he would prove a strong standard bearer.

Michigan At Polls To Express Preference

LANSING, Mich., April 2.—Michigan went to the polls today to express a preference on the candidate for the presidency of the United States.

On the Republican ballot appeared the name of Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of commerce, and on the Democratic ballot was the name of Alfred E. Smith, of New York.

The votes were privileged, however, to go outside these names and write in on the ballots the name of any other candidate or potential candidate whom they might prefer.

The object of the election was to express preference in regard to the candidates. Delegates of both parties, however, will be picked at the state conventions and the result of today's voting is not binding upon them legally.

Sinclair obtained the contract in the Salt Creek fields six months after Fall had received from him $228,000 of Liberty bonds, according to testimony before the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company, of Indiana, also controls the Midwest.

Secretary of Interior Work recently renewed the Sinclair Oil contract, explaining he had no choice in the matter under terms agreed to by Fall and Sinclair.

Fall Will Visit California For Health

EL PASO, April 2.—Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall probably will leave for California in a few days in an effort to regain his health. Fall's deposition in the Harry Sinclair Teapot Dome trial was completed here yesterday. Judge Daniel T. Wright, member of Sinclair's legal staff, declared the deposition was "entirely satisfactory" to him.

Fall was understood to have given lengthy information relative to the leasing of the Teapot Dome field.

Atlee Pomerene, special government counsel; William T. Leahy and Mark B. Thompson, of Fall counsel; Judge Wright and Reginald Ragland, also a member of the Sinclair counsel, left for Washington immediately after the deposition was completed.

SISTERS COMMIT SUICIDE TOGETHER

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 2.—Two girls, sisters, who had been inseparable in life, entered into a suicide pact, here rather than face together the shame of one, who was to become a mother.

Yesterday, the day she was to have become the wife of John Eskew, 26, the body of Esther Hoover, 22, was recovered from a mill sluice.

A few hours before, the body of Sena Hoover, 18, who was engaged to Richard Eskew, 22, John's brother, had been taken from the mill sluice.

The two girls disappeared last Wednesday. They were last seen that night, running hand in hand toward the sluice.

Coroner Stewart found that Sena was to have become a mother within a month.

NORTHERN AREA HIT BY HEAVY RAINFALL

Possibility that the rain might increase in volume and again swell rivers of the region to the flood stage they reached early last week seemed dissipated by the prediction that only light showers will fall tomorrow.

Mild temperature existed in the entire region affected by the storm.

Threat Of Flood Damage Looms In Northwest

PORTLAND, Ore., April 2.—With the Willamette and other rivers running above flood stage, the threat of damaging high waters loomed today in the Pacific northwest.

The Willamette passed the flood stage of 15 feet today and continued to rise. A crest of 16 feet is expected by Tuesday.

Air mail traffic between Portland and San Francisco and Seattle was disrupted by storms both north and south of this city.

A storm raging off the Oregon-Washington coast continued, although it has abated somewhat. The weather bureau said today that flood conditions depended largely on whether this storm swept out to sea or turned inland.

Continued rain in western Oregon and Washington was predicted.

Rain Has Little Effect On Northern Rivers

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—Heavy rains in the upper regions of the Sacramento valley and snows in the mountains will have little effect on the rivers in northern California, which still were receding today, according to N. H. Taylor, U. S. weather bureau forecaster.

The Sacramento river at Knights landing maintained the 19.2 foot level, while at Colusa the river showed a drop of two feet in 24 hours. The crest of the high water passed Sacramento yesterday morning.

Snow in the mountains has piled up to the 62-inch level at Summit. Twelve inches of snow fell at Truckee yesterday.

and debris from the devastated area. This work was progressing between Santa Paula and Piru. Those in charge said the present area would be cleared in three or four weeks and they would be ready to move to a new sector.

Nine construction firms and some 1400 men were engaged in the work, according to C. E. Bressler, who is administering the $1,000,000 appropriation of the Los Angeles city council.

The work at present is mainly that of clearing valuable orchard land of sand and silt.

Report of the city's inquiry commission on the cause of the dam collapse, an investigation independent of that conducted by the coroner, was expected to be made early this week. This commission is headed by Elwood Mead, of the U. S. reclamation service, who will report to the city council.

ed a fractured leg and possible internal injuries. Werle was severely cut and bruised, it was reported.

Colzera Jesun, 25, Buena Park, was seriously injured at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, when he was struck by an automobile, said by officers to have been driven by Alford Rennie, 33, Cypress oil worker.

Rennie was arrested an hour later by state traffic officers and deputy sheriffs and is being held in the county jail for investigation. Officers said he probably would face a charge of failure to stop and render aid after an accident.

According to a report of the accident, Jesun was standing in the street when he was struck by the machine. The driver of the car failed to stop, it is claimed.

Jesun was taken to the Orange County hospital, where he is suffering from a crushed chest. His condition is serious.

Hurts May Prove Fatal
Possibly fatal injuries were received by Mike Alexander, 38, La Habra restaurant man, early yesterday morning in the 2000 block on Mission road, Los Angeles, according to a report filed here, when he was struck by a machine said to have been driven by S. M. Romo, 2439 Cloverdale avenue.

Alexander was taken to a Los Angeles hospital, where it was reported he was suffering from internal injuries and several broken ribs. Romo was not held.

Russell Lorne apartments, Long Beach, received medical aid in the Orange County hospital early yesterday morning for injuries received when he drove his automobile through a fence near the Eddie Martin airport at 2:30 a. m.

He was cut and bruised and able to go to his home after receiving treatment. Russell reported that lights from another machine blinded him, causing him to drive his machine off the road.

A WORD OF COMFORT
The Master of life spoke truly "In the world ye shall have tribulations." He knew that self-possession is to be found along terrible and fearsome roads, and His own experiences evidenced the fact that capacity reveals itself amidst deprivations.
Life may be difficult without sorrow and heartache, but it is not hard enough to call into being the splendid manhood which reveals itself when grief comes. God does not send heavy burdens to the soul but He helps us to use them, when they come, to develop power with which to win mighty battles of body, mind and soul.

NEELY WILL OPEN REMODELLED STORE

W. G. Neely today had completed renovation of the E. S. Gilbert Dry goods store at 110 West Fourth street, which he purchased several weeks ago, and tomorrow the store in all departments will be opened and will be free of carpenters and other workmen who have been engaged for the past three weeks in making alterations and improvements that have added to the general attractiveness of the store as well as to the facilities and conveniences for patrons of the place.

New fixtures and floor coverings have been installed, the fixtures being especially advantageous in the better display of dry goods handled by Neely. Alterations in the second floor plans and changing of stairways were included in the program of improvements which the new owner outlined upon assuming management of one of the oldest dry goods houses in Santa Ana. The shelves and show cases as well as other display departments are filled with the newest and brightest creations, according to Neely, who announced that the public would be cordially received on an inspection tour of the remodeled store. The improvement cost approximately $5500, it was stated.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE FOUNDER IN ADDRESS HERE SAYS FIGHT TO UPHOLD LAW JUST STARTED

Announcement by W. A. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee; an address from the pulpit by L. C. Rogers chief of the Santa Ana police department, and a discussion of the Anti-Saloon League by Dr. Howard H. Russell, founder of the great organization that has placed the liquor traffic under restraint after a battle of more than 35 years, were features that made services last night at the First Methodist church rather unique in church annals of the city.

The veteran campaigner against the saloon and liquor evils appeared just as vigorous last night as he did 35 years ago when he set his face against an evil that admittedly was the greatest menace to the home and commercial economies.

Dr. Russell issued a challenge to the liquor interests for another fight, and declared with the greatest emphasis possible that the Anti-Saloon League forces were just starting to fight.

Recounting some of the history of the organization of a concerted movement against the traffic, when women 50 years ago prayed in saloons, homes and churches for freedom from the curse of intoxicants, with "white ribbons" a little later belting the nation, and creation of approximately 35 years ago of the league, the war horse pointed out that the first victory had been won when the eighteenth amendment was passed by congress.

Fight Just Started
"We now have the fight on the foundation of the constitution, but we must now take up a second campaign to insist on strict enforcement of the provisions of the amendment," the founder said, in asserting that the liquor traffic is more strongly organized than ever and that untruthful propaganda is being used to cause a reversion to conditions existing prior to adoption of the eighteenth amendment.

"We thought the liquor interests would be good sports and 'lay down' when we put the law on the statutes, but instead we find them organized and fighting hard to offset what we have accomplished," the campaigner added, following an assertion that England is pouring money into the coffers of the organized enemy.

"The minority opposed to the prohibition law today is as large as the majority that favored the enactment at the time of its adoption," Dr. Russell declared, in emphasis of his assertion that propaganda is producing results detrimental to the continued operation of the law.

"It is my opinion that 15,000,000 to 18,000,000 persons today would vote repeal of the measure if they had the opportunity for direct vote on the proposition," commented the speaker.

"If we would vindicate democracy, we must speed up our program, and fight harder for strict enforcement."

Urges Agitation
Declaring that agitation is the means for arousing the public conscience, Dr. Russell said it is necessary to rebuild public conscience against the sale of liquor. He announced that the league is preparing for an intensive campaign to demand and command legislative enforcement of the prohibition law.

He outlined a program of activity covering use of the press, movies, radio and education of school children to the evils of the liquor traffic.

Celebrating its moving into new studios in the St. Clair Hotel, Station WIEB, Chicago, staged a big "house-warming" party in which 40 popular artists took part.

Miserable With Backache?

Too Often This Warns of Sluggish Kidney Action.

EVERY day find you lame and aching—suffering nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney excretions too frequent, scanty or burning in passage? These are often signs of sluggish kidneys and shouldn't be neglected.

I blamed the turpentine fumes for the sluggish action of my kidneys. The secretions got me up at night and burned in passage. I felt tired and had headaches and dizzy spells. Pains in my back bothered me too. Doan's Pills made me well again."

While she has taken definite roles in some productions, her greatest success has been in doubling for movie stars in stunts where there is possibility of injury. Parachute jumping, rolling down stairs and falling from tall buildings are some of the stunts she does in doubling for stars.

BEACH FISHERMAN "CATCHES" 2 BARRELS OF RUM IN OCEAN

"Red Hill" in the ocean seven miles off shore from Newport Beach, became a popular fishing ground this afternoon, following discovery by Charles Hemstreet, Newport Beach fisherman, that a string of ten barrels he saw floating on the surface on the ocean contained what Newport Beach officers declare is good "ripe" whiskey.

Hemstreet was out fishing early this morning and picked up two of the ten barrels and brought them ashore in the belief that possibly they might contain vinegar.

Eager friends who greeted the fisherman as he drove his skiff ashore over the big waves near the wharf broke into one of the barrels and discovered the contents to be the grade of whiskey for which some people pay extra-

S. A. CATHOLIC CHURCH BUYS LAND NEAR EL MODENA FOR CEMETERY; HOME PURCHASED

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church of this city has purchased a 12-room house in El Modena and 200 acres of land northeast of El Modena which is to be used as a cemetery.

The cemetery ground was purchased from W. K. Hilliard and the deal is now in escrow, according to Father Henry Eummelen, rector of St. Joseph's church. The price paid for the property was $17,000.

The site is situated to the right of the old El Modena road just at the top of the El Modena grade.

This will be the only Roman Catholic cemetery in Orange county. Formerly all Roman Catholics desiring burial for their relatives in cemeteries of the church had to go to Los Angeles for that rite. The burial ground will receive perpetual care, Father Eummelen stated.

The house and the two acres of land which was included in the sale was formerly owned by W. F. Crist of El Modena. It was sold for $8000.

The building is to be used as a dwelling place for the eight Franciscan sisters who, as refugees from Mexico City, have been living in Santa Ana during the past year.

As there is little hope for an early return to Mexico and as the sisters are doing an unusually good work

PLANS SURVEY OF SHRUBS IN BIRCH PARK

A survey is being made of the trees and shrubs in Birch park to determine the exact scientific species to be found there, it was revealed today by W. S. Kellogg, director of nature study in the Santa Ana schools.

The investigation is being made by Miss Elizabeth Bunnell, nature study supervisor of Los Angeles, who is now conducting in Santa Ana a course on the "Birds and Trees of Southern California," and Miss Charlotte M. Hoak, plant specialist of the Los Angeles school's department of agriculture, and who also is an extension lecturer of the University of California.

"The department of biological science at the Santa Ana high school, under the direction of Miss Meta Daniel and J. Russell Bruff has already compiled a partial list of the park trees and shrubs," Kellogg said. "Miss Hoak will check this list and add to it, making certain of all the identification. Later it is hoped to place on each tree and shrub a permanent metal label giving the scientific, common, and family names, native habitat, and other interesting data. This will make the park of more interest and value to the general public."

"Birch park was laid out about 30 years ago and was landscaped under the direction of Fred Rafferty of this city. Many rare and interesting trees and shrubs are found in the park."

Traffic Police Back On Cycles

Santa Ana traffic officers are back on their motorcycles.

An order issued by Chief of Police Rogers several days ago to the effect that automobiles would not be used after April 1, was complied with today when the two officers, B. A. Hershey and Ed Lentz appeared for work today on motors. "I believe the work can be handled better on motorcycles than in cars," Rogers said in explaining the move. The change to automobiles was made about a year ago.

Church Activities

By J. ALBERT DENNIS

Santa Ana has about thirty places where people may worship the Almighty, or they may go out into the open country, revel amid the beauties of nature and worship the Lord to their hearts' content under the blue canopy of Heaven.

During the past dozen years the city has virtually doubled its population, but how about the church attendance? Is it any larger than it was a decade or more ago? It should be, but nine out of every ten persons will declare it is not. And what is the reason?

We have as good gospel preachers in the pulpit as we ever had; there never was better music; people never were more generous, as witness the over-subscribing of the budget by the First Baptist congregation to the extent of 53 per cent, or the splendid showing of the United Presbyterian church to the world movement, but in spite of it all attendance does not increase. On the contrary it is dwindling.

That's an alarming state of affairs, but, nevertheless, it is the truth, and cannot be gainsaid. Most people will lay the blame to the automobile and others will charge it to the radio. If that be so, what of the future? That's a serious thing to contemplate.

The time has arrived to survey the field, and it is understood that the matter of a religious census for Santa Ana and Orange county is to come up for discussion at the next meeting of the ministerial association, at least one of the ministers has announced his intention of doing so.

The population of Santa Ana is conservatively estimated at 32,000, and it is estimated that 20,000 of these do not make it a practice to worship regularly. Here is where some genuine live missionary work can be done at home with marvelously beneficial results.

The only churches that have been erected in Santa Ana during the past dozen years are the First Church of Christ, Scientist, St. Ann's (Catholic), Four Square Tabernacle, Christian Missionary Alliance chapel, and two Churches of Christ, one on Walnut and one on South Main street. The leading denominations have not added a single structure, although the First Presbyterian has recently added a Sunday school room, and Spurgeon Memorial Methodist, South, is about to erect an extension to cost $20,000 for Sunday school purposes.

A religious census will mean a religious awakening. Every church will get to work. Every layman will be on the job. They are the ones to put over a successful campaign. It's a united effort that is needed. It is not a question of getting money, but getting more people to go to church. That ought to be an easy task. Is it worth while? Most people will say it is.

The world's Sunday school convention is to be held this coming summer at Los Angeles, and already active preparations are being made for the great event. The place of meeting is to be the Shriners auditorium and it is planned to accommodate an audience of 10,000 persons. Every country will be represented and world renowned speakers will discuss vital subjects pertaining to the youth of the church.

The Rev. Samuel Edgar, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, returned this week from Hemet, where he went in the interest of his denomination's extension work.

The Rev. D. C. Hicks, pastor of the Christian Missionary Alliance, has returned from Fresno, where he has been conducting a revival meeting for two weeks.

Out of seventeen persons nominated for elders of the First Presbyterian church, the first nine on the ballot were elected, as follows: J. H. Rankin, D. A. Bear, J. C. Winans, Eugene Griset, Ralph C. Smedley, Chester E. Hawk, Jos. R. Moore, Clyde C. Downing and John B. Eichman.

Gypsy Smith is to make a return visit to Southern California next January and meetings will be held in the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles. It is planned to accommodate an audience of 10,000. He will campaign in London, Ireland, England and India before coming back to California.

The Rev. G. A. Burlingame, acting pastor of the First Baptist church, has been busy since he came to Santa Ana. One year ago the life and work of the church rested on 215 pledges and the unpledged offerings of an indefinite number of members and friends. Today the church has an enlarged work carried on by pledges of 572 members and friends and a total budget of $24,352 signed up to "carry on." The month of April will be noted for "personal evangelism." That will be the key-note of the pastor's sermons every Sunday during the month, and it will be stressed in every possible way in every department.

Plans are under way by the First Presbyterian church for special services on Easter. Shortly after 5 a. m. members of the congregation will go to Howes park for an Easter sunrise inspirational service. The Easter message will be by the Rev. Scott McFarland, pastor. At 11 o'clock, at the church, forty or more new members will be taken into the fellowship of the church. The edifice will be beautifully and artistically decorated. In the afternoon a cantata will be given by a male chorus of sixteen voices, Mrs. Sally Scales singing the soprano obbligato.

The every-member canvass in this church resulted in 554 pledges, amounting to $35,957.

Grandmother Knew

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered.

Musterole gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuritis, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

At the first sign of a cold in the head take Musterole Cold Tablets. They usually give prompt relief.

"We are happy to invite you to NEELY'S OPENING Tuesday, April 3rd, Which is Tomorrow!"

"ALL our pent-up enthusiasm of the past few weeks over having the kind of store we wanted in beautiful Santa Ana is crowded into this invitation to visit our Opening tomorrow and the rest of this Easter week.

"The store looks right now just as we told you it would look: light, airy, cheerful, friendly, full of new things, a charming rendezvous for shoppers.

"All three floors have been completely done over. You'll see new furnishings, new fixtures, new floor coverings, new decorations, a delightful ensemble effect that we have worked hard to attain.

There will be flowers for visitors tomorrow as tokens of our desire to please, and service with smiles all the other days to come as tokens of our desire to hold our customers' friendship and patronage.

Improvement In Outdoor Manners Urged On Autoists

NEW YORK, April 2.—With the motoring season at hand the Garden club of America and the American Nature association have launched a campaign for "outdoor good manners" and for billboard restriction.

Motorists will be urged to leave the wild flowers along the countryside and to clean up picnic sites.

of the American Nature association, has issued the following statement in inaugurating the campaign:

"America is known for its advertising, but are we proud of so many of our roadside landscapes walled by ugly signboards? Indeed, when we face the question most of us will agree that the roadside landscape is not the place for advertising except perhaps in very limited commercial districts.

"Maryland and Connecticut have shown us one way of going about it. This way lies in roadside tree planting. A highway lined on both sides with trees, planted and protected by the state highway commission or forestry department, or under the auspices of county shade tree commission such as in New Jersey, is poor meat for the outdoor advertiser.

"Trees obscure no view of landscape. They rather frame it. But rows of trees do make it hard to read billboards, as advertisers well know. It is illegal in both New York and New Jersey, as well as in most other states, to attach signs to trees. Many states already have passed laws forbidding advertising signs on rights-of-way.

"With the beauties of nature just bursting into view let us all join this Outdoor Good Manners club."

PLAN NEW MEMORIAL

MEXICO CITY, April 2.—Although Mexico City is already filled with monuments dedicated to Francisco Madero and other revolutionary heroes, still another memorial may soon be erected to commemorate the revolution of 1910. It will be entitled "Sons of the Revolution" and will probably be placed in the Plaza de Constitucion, the huge square on the sides of which face the great national cathedral and the national palace.

BEAVERS OFF TO OPEN COAST LEAGUE RACE

Santa Ana Track Squad Defeats San Diego, 63-50

OLIVER'S TEAM CLOSSES SEASON OF DUAL MEETS

Velarde Is First in Three Events; Moffat, Rust, Reboin Score Heavily

With their dual meet schedule behind them, Santa Ana high school's powerful group of track and field athletes looked forward today to the big championship classics of the next four weeks—the Coast Preparatory league meet of April 14 as well as the Southern California State Interscholastics in which Coach "Tex" Oliver's men hope to repeat their sweeping successes of 1927.

Excelling many of their past performances, the Saints came through with a will at San Diego last Saturday afternoon when they thrashed the Hilltop preps, 63 to 50, in the concluding dual meet of the Coast Preparatory league season. It was the first local victory over San Diego this term, the Southerners having previously triumphed in football and basketball.

Ernie Velarde, Poly's "come-through" kid, was one of the chief reasons why Oliver's henchmen outscored their opposition. Velarde won his usual first place in the broad jump and also had two other victories, in the 100 and 225 yard dashes. He was not doped to win either sprint but did with something to spare. Velarde was barely able to nose out his sophomore teammate, Norman Paul, in the broad jump as Paul was leading until Velarde's last hop with a lunge of 20 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

"Reg" Rust, the husky blond, was also an important factor in the Saint win. He put the shot 46 feet, 1 1/2 inches, his best shove of the year, and came right back in the discus with a throw of 116 feet, 11 inches to beat another Santa Ana, Jim Musick, who hurled the platter better than 114 feet. Rust also was third in the 220.

Captain Johnny Moffat took the high hurdles and high-jumped 5 feet, 10 inches for second place but was defeated by his teammate, Alvin Reboin, in the low hurdles. Reboin also finished second to Moffat in the high barriers. Moffat has been ill for two weeks but that he is returning to form was indicated by his time of 16 2-10 seconds in the high sticks. Thus, Velarde, Rust and Moffat contrib-

JOINS PIRATES

When the San Francisco Pacific Coast league owners were in need of a shortstop the bosses of the Pittsburgh Pirates came to the rescue and sent them Hal Rhyne, a former Coast league star who should be one of the best minor league players in the country. Not long after the Pirates felt the need of a good utility infielder and the San Francisco margines reciprocated by selling Eddie Mulligan, a star third baseman. Mulligan, the ranking third baseman of the league, was obtained by San Francisco from the Chicago White Sox in the Willie Kamm deal.

HEENEY HAPPY AT SELECTION TO MEET GENE

BY JOHN O'BRIEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, April 2.—"All I have to say is that Tunney'll know he's in a fight," rumbled Tom Heene, with characteristic good natured modesty when discovered by the United Press correspondent in a Paris restaurant.

The New Zealander, who has been named as the heavyweight champion's next opponent, came here a few days ago with his British manager, Bernard Mortimer. The latter was with him today and supplied the promises which the quiet, self-effacing Heene declined to make.

"Why, my man will knock Tunney's block off," crowed Mortimer. The boasting did not seem palatable to the big heavyweight, who tried further to efface himself while Frenchmen and foreigners at neighboring tables stared curiously.

Tom's Record Impressive.
"Here's the way to look at it," continued Mortimer. "Everyone knows what Tom can do. He's had nine fights recently and won them all. What has Tunney ever done? He's only got one good fight to his name."

"When Tunney and Jack Dempsey crawled through the ropes at Philadelphia they were betting 10 to 1 against Gene but look what he did to Mr. Dempsey. When Tom enters the ring in July the odds certainly will favor Tunney, but the boxing fans are due for another upset. That's certain."

"How do you feel about being chosen ahead of all the other contenders?" the correspondent asked Heene, who was squirming uncomfortably as the little Englishman rattled on.

"Anxious For Match.
"Why, I'd fight the whole lot of American heavyweights over again if I had to, to get a fight with Tunney," replied Tom.

Mortimer broke in to volunteer the opinion that the bout will be held in the United States.

"After studying the situation over here and in England," he continued, "I'm convinced that New York, Chicago or Philadelphia must be counted on to pay the big price necessary to obtain the fight."

"Even with Paris, Berlin and other European capitals to draw from, London hardly could do it. These British syndicates, you know, are not offering a purse. They merely are bidding for the right to stage the battle on a percentage basis."

The Heene-Tunney fight will draw a $2,000,000 gate, Mortimer believes. None of the British syndicates could guarantee one-half that sum.

ORANGE LEAGUE MEET IS WON BY FULLERTON

The big red track team from Fullerton waltzed away with another championship Saturday when it captured the annual Orange league track meet at Anaheim with a total of 43 3-4 points.

A young man by the name of Burnison was Fullerton's heaviest point contributor, chalking up a total of 15 points. Burnison ran away from the field in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes and then copped a first place in the broad jump. He was high point man of the meet.

The meet was unique in that every meet record was broken. The Orange league was formed in 1927 and every mark went by the boards.

Huntington Beach nosed out Orange for second place with a score of 24. Orange was second ringling the best 13 times with Excelsior high with 14 1-3 digits while Anaheim marked up 13 3-4 points. Tustin's athletes accounted for 12 points and Brea-Olinda secured 5 1-3 digits. Garden Grove was low with 2 points. Capistrano was not represented in the meet.

COAST LEAGUE PENNANT RACE ON TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—With managers smiling confidently to sporters and growling at their charges on the diamond by turns, Pacific Coast league baseball teams were tuning up today for the opening of the 1928 season tomorrow.

Pre-season exhibition games have left rather an erratic impression on rosters. Strong teams showed weakness in unexpected spots and weak teams often crashed through with unexpected strength.

This year the Coast league will play a split season with a bonus of $20,000. The split season is not new in baseball, but a split season with a $20,000 bonus is an innovation. This means that at the half way mark, the clubs will start even again. The club which has been hampered by injuries or otherwise unfortunate will be able to rehabilitate itself, and have an even chance with the other seven in the last half.

The $20,000 bonus provides a prize well worth striving for, and I believe this is the first league ever to vote such a bonus. The bonus will be distributed $15,000 to the winning team and $5,000 to the second and third teams. In the event one team wins the first and second halves, it will receive $15,000 without a contest. In that event, $3000 will go to the second team and $2000 to the third team, figured on the percentage of the first and second halves.

Should one team win the first half and another the second, they will engage in a post-season playoff of seven games, the $15,000 to be divided 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser, the third team to receive $3000 and the fourth $2000.

GUYER STAR OF COLLEGE MEET: S. A. IS FOURTH

Although Riverside, Compton and eight other competing institutions cut deeply into its promised total of points, the well balanced Pasadena squad ran true to form and won the annual Southern California Junior College conference track and field meet at Compton Saturday afternoon.

The Pirates scored 49 1-3 points. Riverside was second with 32 1/2, Compton third with 30 and 5-6 and Santa Ana fourth with 17 1/2. Other colleges registered as follows: San Bernardino 12; Fullerton 8; Long Beach 5 5-6; Glendale 5 and Chaffey 2. Pomona and Citrus did not place.

The defeat of Vic Williams, of Compton, by Maurice ("Red") Guyer, Santa Ana's remarkable sprinter, was one of the features of the afternoon. The Compton flash had been expected to repeat his victory over the brick-topped flyer as emphatically as he had beaten him in a recent dual meet but instead the Santa Ana passed Williams in the last 10 yards of each sprint to turn in a twin-win in the splendid times of 9 4-5 seconds and 22 1/2 seconds.

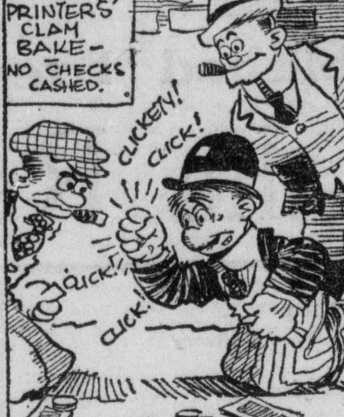

Guyer's time in the century broke the old conference record of 10 flat, made several years ago by Al Claves, of Santa Ana.

Most of the Santa Ana athletes came through with good performances. Jacques had to take second in the high jump only after the bar had been raised to nearly six feet. Blanchard Beatty took a fourth place in the low hurdles and third in the javelin throw. Roscoe Bradbury won fourth in the

Every batter who faced Ed Tomlin, Portland pitcher, in the fourth inning of yesterday's exhibition game at the Orange County Fair grounds hit safely and yet the side was retired with only two runs.

Pullen, Carr and Day all singled to fill the bases. Hubbard singled, scoring Pullen and Carr, but Day was trapped trying to go to third, Lebourveau to Davis. Green singled, sending Hubbard to second. Warfield also singled but Hubbard was nailed trying to score from second, Lebourveau to Ainsmith, and Green was doubled off second, Ainsmith to Sigafos.

Dixon and Mackey, the first two batters in the fifth also hit safely off Tomlin, and Holloway and Pullen binged off his successor, Wetzel, giving the Giants a record of 10 consecutive hits.

LEAGUERS LOSE LAST GAME AT TRAINING CAMP

Hilldale Giants Maltreat Three Pitchers to Win, 12-8, and Even Series

Orange county's sporting fraternity settled down to the grim realities of "bush" baseball again today after six weeks of the Class AA variety as dispensed at the Fair grounds by the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league.

Smarting under a 12 to 8 raw-hiding from the greatly strengthened Philadelphia Hilldale Giants, the Beavers broke camp late yesterday, checked out of their headquarters at St. Ann's Inn last night and traveled into Los Angeles where tomorrow they oppose Los Angeles in the first game of the 1928 Coast league pennant race.

Portland officials and players alike expressed themselves as well pleased with the treatment they received during their sojourn in Santa Ana and undoubtedly would relish an invitation to return next spring. By that time, it is believed, the diamond at the Fair grounds will be much more suitable for high class baseball than it was this year as a movement is said to be on foot to improve the sandy infield and level the now uneven outfield.

Break Even in Series
The Philadelphia Hilldale Giants, who merged with the Cleveland All-Stars for this last two-game stretch of the professionals, lost by a 6 to 5 count Saturday afternoon but came back on the Sabbath before a large attendance to maltreat three Portland pitchers, "Cowboy Ed" Tomlin, "Buzz" Wetzel and Jack Warhop, and even the two-game series.

In the absence of the famous "Speed" Holland, who failed to put in his scheduled appearance, Jesse Hubbard, who had played in the outfield in all of the other colored men's games here, went to the pitching slab and won because the slugging of his teammates was more vigorous than Portland's. Tomlin was pummeled unmercifully and Manager Ernie Johnson yanked him in the midst of a wild slugfest in the fifth. Poor base running was all that saved Tomlin even a worse fate. He was touched for four runs and 11 hits in four frames, retiring in the fifth with two on and nobody out. Wetzel came in and Holloway greeted him with a double that meant two runs. Pullen's single scored Holloway and Pullen went to second on the throw-in and tallied on Day's single.

Warhop Succeeds Wetzel

Wetzel pitched no-hit ball in the sixth but went to the showers at the close of the frame and the ancient Warhop, who was with the Yankees when that club was known as the Highlanders, was nipped for the last four Giant scores. Hubbard helped his own cause with a four-base drive over the left field wall in the ninth. The Beavers were unable to hurt Hubbard much until the eighth when they picked up half of their runs on a double by Ernie Johnson, singles by Barbee and Keesey and a home run by Eddie Almsmith.

"Burr" Lebourveau, the fleet fly-chaser recently obtained by Portland from Philadelphia, socked a long homer to center with Davis aboard in the third.

Robert Kinsey, former California tennis star, will be a member of Mexico's Davis Cup team this year.

TAX time again. THEY catch us on AMUSEMENT tax, LUXURY tax, INCOME tax, SCHOOL tax and ROAD tax. AND we're just been THINKING that if THERE were only SOME way to put a tax ON ALL the stuff that CANADA sends us, ALL the other taxes WOULD be unnecessary. AND every family in ORANGE County WOULD feel they could AFFORD to send us ALL the laundry EVERY week.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

When the Maryland Racing commission ruled Earl Sande off the turf for alleged rough riding, the commissions in other states of the union had no choice but to follow suit.

But when the Maryland turf officials, appointees of a Democratic administration, barred the horses of Harry F. Sinclair because of his alleged contributions to Republican campaign funds, it was a bit too much to expect other states to fall in line.

Sande, to everyone's satisfaction, has been reinstated in Maryland. That state's racing commission has not as yet, however, given indication of any intention of reinstating Sinclair.

Probably not since the United States government sought to bar the Countess of Cathcart has there been a more mistaken application of the idea of moral turpitude.

On the turf, all men are supposed to be equal, and all horses as nearly so as the handicapper can make them.

After the James boys, Jesse and Frank, had come to be nationally notorious as bank robbers, hold-up men and murderers they continued to race a stable of fast thoroughbreds at Nashville.

Sam Hildreth, who trains horses for Sinclair and who may buy out the oil man as a result of the Maryland ban, will tell you that Frank James was one of the most honest men with whom Hildreth ever had dealings on the turf. Frank acted as Sam's betting commissioner and reported back the winnings and losings to the last penny.

This is not to suggest that there is any bond of sympathy between bank-robbers and contributors to the Republican national campaign, but merely, on the contrary, to point out that the private life of an individual or even his alleged public depredations has never swayed the judgment of honest turfmen in their dealings with him.

The turf has a code and a law of its own. Sometimes this code is very rigid and severe, as was the case with Earl Sande. The stewards at Pimlico, on the occasion of the running of the Futurity there last November, thought Reigh Count should have won the race. They were told that Sande on Bateau had been close to the favorite, since the back stretch and apparently had interfered with the favorite, since the latter reared and fell back. Three was conflicting testimony, including the fearful protestations, who enjoyed the best of reputations.

The stewards decided against the premier jockey of America, and Sande was barred from the turf in this country, Canada, Cuba, England and the Continent. Now he has been reinstated, and the incident is of necessity closed.

In acting against Sinclair, the Maryland authorities have gone outside their province, it would seem. Other racing commissions have refused to do likewise. The oil man was formerly a member of the New York state commission. On the turf, he and Sam Hildreth enjoy unblemished reputations, and their horses have never run slower than the best.

National politics are so mutable that they seem poor grounds for action against an acknowledged sportsman.

FIRST STREET PROPERTY IS SOLD FOR $300 FRONT FOOT

J. W. Norton, owner of the residence property at 301 West First street, today had completed negotiations for purchase from Chester Watkins of the latter's 50-foot lot adjoining on the west. The transaction was completed through the agency of the business property department of the Ray Goodell real estate agency. While the consideration was not made public, it is believed to have been on a basis of $300 a foot for the First street frontage.

The purchase by Norton indicates that he is preparing to convert his present residence property into business property. By the addition, he now has a frontage of 125 feet on Broadway and a lot depth of 100 feet. The property adjoins the Flagg building on the south, an alley separating the parcels. The new building being erected by the Santa Ana Development company for Montgomery Ward and company adjoins the Flagg building on the north.

FARMED OUT TO ATLANTA

Doug Wycoff, former Georgia Tech football star, who tried out with Washington, has been farmed out to the Atlanta Southern Association club.

LAGUNA BEACH CONCERN SUED IN STOCK DEAL

Another echo of the rumblings which were heard when the Coast Industries Inc. of Laguna Beach, went into voluntary bankruptcy recently, reached Santa Ana today, when stock in the concern was made a subject for a new lawsuit.

When the company's stock first began to be attacked, a number of Orange county people who claimed to have accepted it in payment for land, immediately brought court action to recover the deeds they declared they had given under the impression that the shares were valuable.

The action brought today names O. G. Hoegstadt and the Stubbs Hoegstadt company as defendants. Hoegstadt formerly was city attorney of Laguna Beach and a director in the Coast Industries. The plaintiff, Louis Hintze, asserted that he had transferred a $4500 piece of Laguna Beach property to the defendants and in return accepted part payment in shares of the Coast Industries. He now asserts that the stock was issued without permission from the state corporation commissioner and that it is not worth a cent. He asks that the deed he claims to have given be declared void and that title to the land be reconveyed to him.

SEEK ARTISTS FOR MUSICAL PROGRAMS

While many of the city's musicians have responded to the request for volunteer talent for county institution programs during the music festival in May, there is still need for additional artists, according to Harry Hanson, chairman of the Music week committee, and those who can give of their time and talent at some time during that week are asked to notify him at the earliest possible date.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the committee in Ketter's Gold room, at which 16 were present. At the same time, Sol Gonzales, chairman of the committee for the Spanish program, reported the need of other Spanish artists to volunteer. It is felt that both needs will be satisfied in the near future.

Plans were also presented for the high school to give "Pinafore" the famous Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, as one of the evening events.

Another feature of the week which promises to be of unusual interest will be the display of quaint old musical instruments, which, loaned by their owners, will be placed in one of the prominent downtown windows. Anyone having an old violin, melodeon, dulcimer or any musical instrument of any kind, will confer a favor on the committee, by telephoning one of the members and proffering the loan of it for the week.

20 Suits Filed Over Property At San Clemente

San Clemente property was involved today in 20 separate court actions brought by the Merchants National Trust and Savings bank, Los Angeles, in which an attempt was launched to settle title disputes to the land.

The defendants named are Florence J. Adams, Annie M. Watkins, Ernest W. Chandler, Reginald Cruse, I. W. Fay, John T. Flaherty, Harrison Forstee, Marie K. Fox, Harry E. Fralick, Richard M. Hall, Maud Jensen, F. G. Fleming, Nellie Keller, Gertrude C. Long, Helen A. Pearson, R. M. Roberts and M. A. Sorenson. In several cases more than one action is brought against the defendants.

BEACH SECTION WILL OBSERVE COLLEGE WEEK

NEWPORT BEACH, April 2.—Practically all available cottages are rented and rooming houses and beach courts are filled, it was reported today. Hundreds of college students have been attracted to the district through the collegiate programs which are to be staged during the week under the auspices of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

The collegiate week activities start tonight with dances at the new Rendezvous ballroom on the ocean front. The prize events will start at 8 p. m., and will continue until midnight. Free trips in a huge Ford airplane will constitute some of the awards. Prize dances will be held at the Newport Beach dance pavilion Wednesday and at the Balboa pavilion Friday evening.

Water sports, including canoe races, canoe tilting, bucket races and other events will be staged in the bay Tuesday. The water sports will start at 2 p. m. Another program of water activities will be staged Thursday. The final dancing contests will be held Friday evening at the Rendezvous ballroom and at the Balboa pavilion.

The dedication of the Orange county airport will be a feature of the program Saturday. The airship rides will be given the prize winners at that time and other special events have been planned, according to G. C. Macleod, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Easter Sunrise services will start the Sunday program. The services will be conducted by the Rev. W. H. Stockton at a high point overlooking the bay back of Balboa island. Churches of Newport Beach, Balboa and Costa Mesa are uniting in staging the service.

Exhibition rowing events by the San Diego rowing club crews, canoe races, swimming events and other races will be staged on the bay Sunday afternoon and will bring the week's activities to a close.

Don Douglas, Capt. W. G. Dare and Harold Holtz will be in charge of the water sports program.

Orange Woman Buried Tuesday

ORANGE, April 2.—Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the C. W. Coffey funeral parlors for Mrs. Louvica Edith Wayne, 63, who passed away Friday evening at her home at 727 West Chapman avenue after an illness of three weeks.

Mrs. Wayne had been a resident of California for the past five years and a resident of Orange for three years. She formerly lived at Lovilla, Ia., and had been a life-long member of the Christian church at that place.

Mesa Chamber In Neutral Stand On Annexation Move

COSTA MESA, April 2.—The chamber of commerce here last week adopted a resolution placing the body on a neutral basis in the matter of annexation to Santa Ana. The chamber has always been neutral to the proposition and has never gone on record as favoring the annexation movement, according to Fred Siefert, president. Misunderstandings have arisen over the individual work of some members of the chamber of commerce, he said.

The resolution is expected to clear the matter up. All matters pertaining to annexation will be discussed openly and without favor one way or another in the chamber, Siefert said today.

Several members of the chamber of commerce have been working to bring the annexation to a vote, while other members of the chamber have been working against the annexation movement, declared Siefert.

F. W. Opp, vice president of the chamber of commerce, tendered his resignation at the meeting. The resignation was laid over until the next meeting.

TEACHER WILL RESIGN AFTER 35 YEARS WORK

EL MODENA, April 2.—When Miss Lula M. Evans closed the door of her classroom in the El Modena grammar school for the spring vacation, she closed it for the 22nd time in as many years and incidentally, for the last time on such an occasion.

Miss Evans has taught in Orange county for the past 24 years and the fifth and sixth grades of this school for the past 22 years and previous to that time, she taught in other states a number of years, bringing her total up to 35 years of service. With the closing of the school year in June, Miss Evans expects to discontinue teaching.

When a girl of 17, Miss Evans was a school teacher in the back woods of Louisiana, where her parents were descendants of the Arcadians made immortal by Longfellow's "Evangeline." One of her first schools was in Shadron, Neb., where she witnessed the passing of the great mile-long overland freight trains to Wyoming.

It was along the White river in Nebraska that Miss Evans collected fossils that she has used in her classes for many years. She has a collection that is said to number many rare specimens.

Miss Evans lived and taught along this river before the territory had been touched by geologists of the great universities, who have since done a great deal of excavating in this fertile field. Among the rare specimens collected by Miss Evans and which she still has is the fossilized head of an oreodon, or the prehistoric horse, of the Cenozoic age.

Miss Evans has always tried to interest her students in fossils and a number of those who received their inspiration from her have continued their work along this line in college.

Miss Evans is a teacher for the logical reason that her mother, her grandmother and her great grandmother were teachers before her. Her grandmother taught a school in Vermont during Revolutionary war times and at a time when women teachers were rare.

Mrs. Grace White, president of the Whittier W. M. S., installed the officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. Taylor, wife of a former minister of the church, was present.

Wayne Holt has been assigned as Ching, the Chinese cook, Raymond C. Johnson will be seen as Ned Graydon, who is noted for his faulty memory. Ed Marks does the part of Colonel Robert Rudd, who lives in terror at the thought of a visit from his sister-in-law, Emmeline, played by Mrs. Lillian Thorpe, and her daughter, Julia, played by Mrs. Alice Hevener. Rodney Collins has the part of Bob Rudd, the unmanageable son of Colonel Rudd. Helen Knox has the part of Marjorie Byrd.

The play is being directed by Mrs. J. V. Kelsey. Mrs. H. E. Dungan is business manager and Mrs. T. C. Natland has charge of properties.

OBJECTIONS TO BEACH PHONE CABLE DROPPED

NEWPORT BEACH, April 2.—Objections raised by the citizens' harbor committee to the laying of a telephone cable across Newport bay from Island avenue to the western end of the county bridge over the bay have been withdrawn by the committee. It was reported here today. Certain conditions have been met, which has allowed the committee to favor the cable.

The committee favors the granting of a 15-year franchise for the crossing, wishes signs notifying navigators of the crossing posted on the bulkhead line in such a manner that they will not be unsightly and also asks that the telephone company file a letter with the city clerk releasing all boat owners from responsibility for any damage which might be done by the cable.

It is not believed that the cable will interfere with navigation during the next 15 years, but it is the aim of the committee to protect the boat owners and make it possible for anchors to be dropped near the cable if it is necessary.

A request of the Southern Counties Gas company for permission to lay a new main across the bay from Adams street to Pearl street will be investigated by the committee.

LEAVES FOR DENVER

ORANGE, April 2.—Mrs. Samuel Hart, of Harwood place, left Saturday for Denver, where she was called by the serious illness of her 10-year-old grandson. The Harts are recent arrivals in Orange, having bought the L. L. Granger dry goods store a short time ago.

mittee, it was decided at the meeting last week. Frank Smith, J. B. McNally and Harry Welch were named as a sub-committee to investigate the matter. It is believed that a slight change in the location of the gas main crossing will be asked. The change will place the gas line near other lines which already cross the bay, it is pointed out.

WESTMINSTER ASKS FOR RURAL ROUTE

WESTMINSTER, April 2.—Dr. Richard Foster, Clyde Day, George Clough and Wells McCoy were in Los Angeles last week interviewing postal authorities on the possibility of a rural mail route for the Westminster post office.

The men were appointed on a committee recently by the Westminster Chamber of Commerce to get details of requirements for rural service. They are to report at the chamber meeting Tuesday evening.

NEWPORT BEACH, April 2.—Bids on the leasing of 33 acres of city water land will be opened tonight at the regular meeting of the city council. The land is to be rented for agricultural purposes. It is part of a large tract purchased some time ago for the city water department. Only five acres of the land has been developed for water. The lease on the land will be granted for three years.

Scatter Ashes Of Judge Hall Over Ocean This Week

NEWPORT BEACH, April 2.—The ashes of Judge Byron Hall, prominent in the Newport harbor section for many years, will be scattered off the shore of Newport Beach this week, it was announced here today. Judge Hall passed away last week at Ft. Collins, Colo. The body was taken to Denver for cremation and the ashes will be disposed of here. Judge Hall came to Newport Beach in 1912 and after farming in the Costa Mesa district for some time, entered the grocery business projects in the city. He was the editor of newspapers and magazines at various times.

CAST CHOSEN FOR CAPISTRANO PLAY

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, April 2.—The senior class of the high school has chosen "The Patsy" as the class play instead of "The Boomerang." The cast is as follows: Mr. Harrington, Gordon Beckley; Mrs. Harrington, Margarette Erricarte; Patricia Harrington, Mary Murphine; Grace Harrington, Sara Ross; Tony Anderson, Kern Thomas; Billy Caldwell, John Landel; Mr. O'Flaherty, John Williams; Trip O'Bustey, Bill Rosenbaum; Sadie Buchanan, Mary McHenry.

Olive Girl Weds Orange Resident

OLIVE, April 2.—At a quiet wedding here last week, Miss Edna Meierhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meierhoff, Anaheim boulevard, became the bride of Carl Liermann, of Orange. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Emil H. Kriedt, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, in Olive, at the pastor's home. Only the members of the family and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

REGULATION OF CAMPAIGNS FOR FUNDS SOUGHT

ORANGE, April 2.—The election of officers of the welfare board, which was to have taken place at the regular meeting here the latter part of the week, was postponed until the last of this month, owing to lack of time to hold the election.

The session, which was held in the white room of the First Christian church, was attended by about 20 members. Among a number of important matters brought up for discussion was that of the regulation of future fund campaigns in the city. A proposition was presented to the board recently whereby the chamber of commerce, the Merchants' association and the welfare board would co-operate in the regulation of drives by various organizations of the city. This procedure, it is said, would prevent one drive from following too closely on the heels of another.

The following committee was appointed to consider the matter: Mrs. H. O. Ehlen, Mrs. B. L. Chapline, Donald Clark, C. H. Morrow and William Hagen. Mrs. Chapline was appointed general manager of the welfare store for the year.

A report from the American Legion auxiliary which had charge of the store for the past month, showed $150 taken in. The auxiliary was assisted in the work by the Business and Professional Women's club. This is the record amount made in any previous month. The store will be in charge of the guild of the Trinity Episcopal church during the present month.

RETURN TO BALBOA

NEWPORT BEACH, April 2.—Mrs. Frances Geopier, pioneer resident of Balboa, has returned home after spending six months visiting relatives and friends in Amarillo and Galveston, Texas.

ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

All Women
Have Right
To Rouge

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

We accept the make-up of the young women of today as a matter of course. But we are still inclined to ridicule the older woman who seeks the aid of the rouge-pot to put a touch of bloom on her faded cheeks.

The flapper quite frankly dabs at her face in public with her make-up box, and even calmly combs her hair, but her mother must nonchalantly forget her own appearance, no matter how she looks, unless she can seek the seclusion of some quiet spot to refurbish her countenance.

In the matter of hair coloring, too, the young woman has all the things. She will tell you quite openly that she needs a henna wash, or that the dark shadow near the scalp is an indication that she must go for another bleach. She may even change from blonde to brunette and back and it doesn't cause a ripple of excitement.

But let an older woman use even the suggestion of hair-dye and it must remain a dead secret or again she will be the target of criticism.

Is it such a disgrace for a woman out of her thirties to try to look as well as she can? Madam Nature is not going to waste any time doing it for her, and no one can convince me that Nature's neglect, which means thin, graying locks, colorless, darkening skin, and whitish lips, looks better than skillful grooming and cleverly put-on make-up.

I could have kissed a man who said to his wife one evening, "Marry, you've got some rouge on, haven't you? I wish you'd always use it. You haven't looked so pretty for years."

One time a man said, "When I see an older woman who thinks enough of herself and her friends I feel like shaking her by the hand and saying, 'Thank you!'" to make her appearance pleasing. I think most men feel that way. So why shouldn't women stop their tongue-wagging and allow their sisters a little latitude in using a vanity-box if she wishes?

Afternoon of Bridge
Is Compliment to Miss Swales

Spring was very evident Saturday afternoon, not only in the fresh leaves of the trees in the riot of color in flower gardens throughout the city, but also in the pretty frocks and hats worn by the bevy of lovely girls who gathered at the home of Miss Evelyn Farnsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth of North Broadway, when she and Miss Virginia Slabaugh entertained with a bridge tea and shower in honor of Miss Catherine Swales, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, who is to be married soon to Lyman H. Farwell.

When bridge scores were added at the end of the afternoon it was found that Miss Frances Egge had scored high while Miss Elinor Landenburg of Salt Lake City, was second. Each received an attractive gift as did Miss Catherine Swales who was awarded guest prize.

When refreshments were served they carried out a color scheme of pink, lavender and yellow, which also prevailed in the spring flowers used throughout the living rooms of the home. The two young hostesses were assisted in serving by their mothers, Mrs. Farnsworth and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh and by the Misses Helen Slabaugh, Emeline Swales and Lillie Williams of Los Angeles.

The many intriguing snower gifts had been placed in a large lavender box made to represent a flower. The box contained any number of miscellaneous articles both for the home of the bride-to-be and for her own personal use.

The list of invited guests included the Misses Mildred Whitcomb, Virginia Berry, Anne Haddon, Louise Van Dien, Louise Stephenson, Murrell Knox, Enid Twiss, Juanita Jones, Sarah Hales, Helen Bowers, Adelaide Spencer, Mary Jane Owens, Helen Battey, Mignonette Swales, Kate Benton, of Los Crescenta, Dorothy Fogel, Dorothy Selway, Mavis Diehl, Elinor Landenburg, Frances Egge, Emeline Swales, Elizabeth Palmer, Margaret Calder, of Los Angeles, Marcia Keeler, Helen Fleisher of Brea, Eleanor Crookshank, Martha Fleming of Glendale, and Lillie Drake Williams of Los Angeles, who is a houseguest of Miss Farnsworth; Mrs. Leonard Swales, Mrs. Helen Browning, Mrs. Lyman Farwell, Mrs. Wendell Hill and Mrs. Rolla Hays Jr.

Informal Party For Judge Pleasants' Birthday

Judge J. E. Pleasants of Santiago canyon, county bee inspector, was an honored guest yesterday afternoon at an informal gathering held at his home in celebration of his eighty-ninth birthday anniversary, which will occur this week.

The affair had been planned by Mrs. Pleasants who had invited friends of Judge Pleasants from all of the surrounding countryside to spend the afternoon.

The Pleasants home is especially attractive at this time of year as the many sycamore trees are beginning to put forth bright new leaves and the flowers and mountain plants are blooming in all of their glory.

The afternoon was spent in meeting old acquaintances who seldom see each other except at the happy birthday gatherings which are held each spring in Judge Pleasants' honor.

Mrs. Pleasants was assisted in entertaining her guests by Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, Mrs. Carolyn Barnett, Miss Anne Robinson, and Miss Marguerite McIntosh. Miss McIntosh just recently came to California from Hastings, Neb., and is now living at 895 Bush street, Santa Ana.

Julia Lathrop Clubs
Give Assembly Program

One of the interesting school events preceding the week of spring vacation, was the assembly program at Julia Lathrop junior high school, presented by the Every Girl's and I. K. L. clubs, and honoring the noted woman whose name the school bears.

The program opened with a piano number, "Venetian Love Song," played by Winifred Triplett, and Vera Goff followed with a reading, "Talkin' About Trouble." A quartet of four girls, Joy Best, Mary Ann Cummings, Marietta Limbaugh and Mary DuBois, sang "I Would That My Love" by Mendelssohn and "Serenade" by Fagans; a reading, "Our Name," by Evelyn Fairley, explained how the school was given the name of Julia Lathrop, and expressed appreciation to those who had made the school a reality.

A playlet of two episodes was presented by members of the Every Girl's club. The first, "The Music of the Sea," by Barbara Thompson, Norma Wiley, Alice Miller, Dinah Skinner, Phyllis Pope, Alberta Green and Vivian Rogers, presented preparations to send Vivian as a delegate to an Every Girl's convention in Chicago, a stop at Rockford, Ill., for an interview with Miss Lathrop being in the plans. The interview brought out much valuable information and interesting side lights on the life of Miss Lathrop, all of which were true to facts derived in correspondence for the occasion.

A reading entitled "What our School Means to Me" by Faria Nell Clayton was followed by the presentation of a three-dollar prize, by the dean of girls, to Jeanette Robey for writing an acceptable school song. At the same time Lucile Cook, as a tribute from Mrs. Lamb, present of the P. T. A., presented a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas to Miss Zolman, who wrote the music to the song "The Girls' Glee club, in white and green costumes, sang the prize song.

Gordon Belsel presented "Our School in Prophecy" picturing the institution in 1935. A duet, "Bells of the Sea," by Gale Smith and Wilbur Vincent, was followed by an announcement by Boyd Trawick stressing the importance of registration by all parents, and Mr. Nelson spoke upon the high ideals that had characterized Miss Lathrop's public life and of her deep interest in the education of boys and girls.

In closing William Friend led the school in the flag salute.

BRIDGE CLUB MEMBERS Are Entertained

The pleasant home of Mrs. George Safely at 606 South Birch street, was the scene of a merry event late last week, when it was placed at the disposal of Mrs. A. D. Rose of Long Beach, in entertaining her friends of the Nut Bridge Luncheon club.

The long luncheon table was arranged beneath the shady trees of the garden, and adorned with flowers and Easter appointments for serving the delectable menu.

Covers were laid for Mesdames A. D. Rose, P. Newton, W. R. Brooks, Jessie Early, Agnes Brotherton, Orville West and E. Gutzes, from Long Beach; Mrs. Jesse Armitage from Sunset Beach, Mesdames William Irwin, L. McRoberts and N. E. Hibbert of Bozeman, Montana; Mrs. U. Homan, E. Reeves and George Safely of Santa Ana.

After luncheon bridge was played in the house, Mrs. Early winning the club prize, and Mrs. Homan the guest prize.

Evening at Cards Is Farewell Courtesy Of Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Newton planned a delightful party as one of the end-of-the-week events, to bring together a group of close friends in their home, before they should leave Santa Ana to live in Long Beach.

The party was held at 1222 South Ross street, and the guests were members of the Stitch 'N' Chatter club, their husbands and a few friends. Mrs. Newton had arranged tables for bridge, in which exciting game, Mrs. John State and Lloyd Day scored high, Miss Herma Smith and John State, second, and Mrs. Earle Robbins and Fred Wahl, low. Each of the sextette was presented with an attractive gift.

An Easter motif was suggested by the tally cards and by the appointments of the home and of the supper tables. For yellow ranunculus and purple iris adorned the roses, while each table presented an attractive Easter group of furry rabbits and saucy little chickens.

An appetizing supper menu was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Day and Mrs. Louis Bahr.

In the party in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Newton, were Mr. and Mrs. John State, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dilley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wahl, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Day of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bahr of Huntington Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Taylor and daughters, Nadine and Helen, the Misses Helen Howell, Rita Cook, Florence McQueen, Herma Smith and Helen Decker, and Messrs. Bruce Decker, Harold Furtich, Don Kester and Robert Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton recently sold their pretty home in Palmer Square in anticipation of the move to the beach city where Mr. Newton is being transferred by the Pan-American Oil company for which he is auditor. Their new address is 1056 Cherry avenue, Long Beach.

Spurgeon Missionary Tea
Mrs. E. C. Martin's pleasant home at 1176 East Chestnut avenue, was made doubly attractive with spring flowers for the Missionary tea which was held there late last week for members of Spurgeon Memorial Missionary society.

About 80 members were present, and were entertained with a varied program opening with a two-plant number by Miss Carolyn Haughton and Miss Virginia Adams. They played "Asa's Death" from Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite," very beautifully.

This was followed by the Bible lesson given by Mrs. Lillie Hamilton, a hymn and prayer.

Both interesting and entertaining was the clever jubilee pageant given by seven members of the society, depicting various periods of the Missionary organization for the past fifty years. Each one was dressed in the costume of the period, with Mrs. Holland representing the years from 1873 to 1878; Mrs. Swartzbaugh from 1886 to 1892, and

Illinois Guests Are Complimented at Dinner-Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Franzen and daughter, Miss Norma Franzen, of Monmouth, Ill., who are making their headquarters at the Valencia hotel, Anaheim, and visiting with their relatives and friends of Orange county, were complimented Saturday night at a delightful dinner and bridge given in Anaheim by Mr. and Mrs. Iher at their home, 204 West South street.

A delicious southern dinner was served, with Virginia baked ham and other special dishes. The table was very lovely with its pink and white blossoms and other decorative appointments to harmonize. Covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Iher, their honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Franzen and Miss Norma Franzen, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Zaiser, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Zaiser, Mrs. Grace Zaiser, Mrs. Margaret Howard and Donald Zaiser, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Warren of Hemet, Mr. and Mrs. Cordes of Anaheim.

Bridge in the after-dinner hours, brought success to Miss Franzen, whose reward was a graceful water bottle filled with lavender bath salts. Mrs. Adam Zaiser took second prize, and Mrs. Harry Zaiser, consolation. Dr. Zaiser took first place among the men, and Mr. Cordes, second. When the prizes were presented, Mrs. Iher also gave a guest prize to Mrs. Franzen.

WOMAN'S DAY
by ALLENE SUMNER

Perhaps the moral, if one must have one, in the story of Mrs. Christine Woodside, fined $100 for "flogging her 16-year-old daughter, Lorene, is that a lion tamer should never have children. For this mother was a lion tamer by profession before her marriage, and 'tis said that never did lion tamer get a smarter lash than Mrs. Christine Woodside. But the same tactics applied to her child didn't work in this country. Perhaps, too, the little story is just one more symbol of the ever-increasing power of youth to "get the best of it" over age. It will be harder than ever for parents to make their girls get in at night.

THE "LOVE LEGEND"
Although he was 103 and she was 96, Mrs. Elizabeth Reeves left her husband the other day. She said that their marriage was not a success; they were not happy together, and would be better apart. How "the love legend" does persist even on into old age! Though we do not demand happiness in any other situation, for or scheme of life, we demand it from marriage, or the marriage is, n. g. Even at 103 and 96!

WOMAN UNFIT TO JUDGE
Women have no business on juries, according to Dr. Louis Blach, psychiatrist. He says that "woman is unfit for the judgment of guilt." He cites the reactions of several women told that a husband had shot his wife's lover. The frivolous butterfly woman condemned him ("what'd he expect a woman to do left alone all day?"), etc. The very maternal woman condoned him, and called the woman "a hussy." The gold digger said "good for her!" and condemned the husband. Dr. Blach says this proves that emotion and self-justification rule women.

A Clear Complexion

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color. These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

All things that go into a cake were soon poured in. "For goodness sake," said Copy as he watched the fun, "I really never knew that sugar, butter, flour and spice are things that made a cake so nice. I surely hope that I will have a piece when we are through."

"Don't worry," said the baker man. "The cake is big. You bet you can. There'll surely be plenty, so that everyone can eat. Now that you've worked with all your might, I hope that all things turn out right. It won't be very long now till you all will have a treat."

And, all this time wee Clowney stood and stirred the mixture up real good. The spoon he used was very large, and hard for him to hold. "Oh, let me try it for a while," said Copy. This made appreciation, a book or other little gift.

That roystering, two-fisted adventurer dear to the hearts of every woman and the envy of most men, Victor McLaglen who achieved his first triumph as Captain Flagg in "What Price Glory," scores again in "A Girl in Every Port," current attraction at the Yost Broadway theater.

The picture is a swift moving romance of a man-driving mate on an American merchantman. Spike Madden, played by McLaglen.

It is a role that is ideally fitted for this six foot plus, soldier of fortune of real life and he plays it with such conviction that there can be no doubt that he drew liberally on his own past experiences.

Louise Brooks, Natalie Joyce, Lela Haynes and Robert Armstrong are in the cast.

WEST END THEATER

Daring stunts, startling trick riding and one of the fastest and most thrilling western pictures ever to play the West End theater is "The Wagon Show," the current feature starring Ken Maynard. Not only is thrill followed by more thrills, but the story itself presents an unusual angle in combining an authentic circus picture with a western background. The circus angle is said to be Maynard's idea, for it is well known that for many years he was the featured trick and stunt rider for Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus.

She is warned by Bancroft that the stealthy menace of the jungle, its loneliness, its dangers all the more deadly because hidden by flowers and greenery, will in the end break her morale. She scoffs at him and then with dramatic suddenness she goes to pieces and Bancroft finds himself faced by the necessity of fighting to save her from the dangers of her own desires.

COLLIER WISHES SUCCESSOR ON JOB MAY FIRST

With appointment of E. B. Collier as manager of Red Fox Orchards association at Orange officially made by the board of directors, it became more definitely evident today that the city council must accept the resignation of Collier as city manager. Collier tendered his resignation to the city council at an informal session last Monday afternoon, but no official acceptance has been made.

In informing the members of the council that he felt that personal interests directed acceptance by him of the management of the association, the city manager said that he would not embarrass the city by insisting on immediate effectiveness of his resignation. He made it clear that he would remain as long as it was necessary to give his successor time in which to acquaint himself with details of the work. However, Collier said he would like to be relieved not later than the first of May, and earlier if possible, and the council indicated April 15 as the possible date by which it may employ a successor and "break" him in.

It was known today that at least two men prominent in civic affairs of two communities in this county had made informal application for appointment to the position, but the names of the men who have indicated their willingness to serve this community in this capacity are not being made public by Mayor Frank L. Purinton or other members of the council. One application has been received from a man in Los Angeles who has a long and successful record in the management of private corporations. "We are going to take our time in selecting Collier's successor, for success of the operation of the affairs of the city under the manager plan depends largely upon the man who holds the position of manager," Purinton said.

The city governing body was scheduled to meet in an informal session at 3 o'clock this afternoon for discussion of city matters, and it is understood that at least one important project new to the city will come up for discussion.

While declaring that the project is one that means a great deal to the future of Santa Ana, proponents would not disclose its nature for publication, preferring first to gain the viewpoint of city council members and others as to its feasibility.

JAGIANS HEAD PLEASED WITH CLEANUP WORK

"It is indeed a pleasure and a privilege to be the head of an organization when there exists such a splendid spirit of co-operation as was displayed during the cleanup, paint-up, and beautification parade last Friday," Bruce Switbly, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, said today in expressing his thanks to the various individuals and organizations which assisted in the event.

The campaign committee, headed by Ridley Smith, worked diligently for three weeks lining up the details preparatory to the parade and it was thought that the parade would be some ten or twelve blocks long and you can imagine the surprise of the Junior Chamber of Commerce when a parade of thirty or forty blocks long swung into line Friday afternoon.

"On behalf of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, I wish to take this moment of thinking the many agencies and individuals of Santa Ana for their full hearted support of this cleanup campaign. It would be impossible for the writer to communicate with everyone who so kindly assisted us in planning and carrying out the parade, but we can say that every one from the mayor of our city, down to the little street urchins, did their share in putting on this most colorful parade. We believe that the cleanup, paint-up and beautification campaign, under the direction of the Boy Scouts, will prove to be very beneficial to our community as well as outside communities, for the people of other communities are always attracted to a clean, sanitary, beautiful city. Naturally, our aim is to have a city beautiful."

"We wish to urge that every citizen of Santa Ana who operates with the Boy Scouts in making the work easier, and assure the general public that the Junior Chamber of Commerce sincerely appreciates your splendid spirit of co-operation."

WATER LEVEL RISES IN LAST TWO YEARS

The water level in well No. 2 of the Placentia Water company has risen 19 feet in the past two years, according to a communication just received by Paul Bailey, flood control engineer, from C. E. Lee, manager of the water company.

The manager points out that the depth of the well is 257 feet and that on February 6, 1926, it was 155 feet to water, while on March 28, 1928, it was only 135.5 feet to water.

Commenting on the finding in the Placentia well, Bailey said it is true that taking the county as a whole, the water level has risen in all wells, with the possible exception of two districts.

In the opinion of the engineer the increase is due to the heavy rains of last season and seepage into the underground basin. He pointed out that in the series of dry years from 1922 water levels had gradually receded, but he expressed the belief that the good rains of last year and the fair season this year would result in still further increasing the underground basin to the point where levels would rise, or, at least, would be maintained for a time.

On behalf of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, I wish to take this moment of thinking the many agencies and individuals of Santa Ana for their full hearted support of this cleanup campaign.

"We wish to urge that every citizen of Santa Ana who operates with the Boy Scouts in making the work easier, and assure the general public that the Junior Chamber of Commerce sincerely appreciates your splendid spirit of co-operation."

THIS FARMER HAY DURING SHINE

Some people say that farmers are not good business men but Eugene Griset, Santa Ana rancher, is performing a simple trick in the southwest part of the city today which will not only mean money in his pocket, but also will result in a saving of several hundred dollars for property owners there.

In commercial parlance he is turning a liability into an asset. Furthermore he is relieving the city of a lot of extra work which it is not anxious to perform.

As a matter of fact, all that Griset is doing is to cut and stack the volunteer hay on 40 or 50 acres of unused land in the outskirts of the community, thereby getting for his cows and horses a free supply of feed and straw.

Clyde Jenken, city engineer, estimated today that the cost per lot of the work would be $1.00 to $1.50. With five lots to the acre, the total outlay would be at least $250 for the work Griset is doing.

97 BOYS TAKE UP SWIMMING LESSONS

Ninety-seven boys between the ages of 9 and 16 today had signed up for the free lessons in swimming offered this week by the Y. M. C. A. It was announced by T. P. McKee, boys' work secretary of the organization.

The secretary announced it would not be possible for further registration in classes after the first lesson. Classes will be held every day during the week, except tomorrow.

"Boys have accepted the opportunity for special instruction with enthusiasm, and as result of their lessons they will be better able to enjoy water sports during the summer vacation, and at the same time will have equipped themselves for battling their lives should they at some time in the future be so unfortunate as to meet with an accident requiring exercise of their swimming powers," the secretary said.

FOREST RANGER TO MOVE TO DESCANSO

Forest Ranger J. B. Stephenson of Corona who is in charge of the Trabuco district of the Cleveland forest, which includes the entire Santa Ana mountain range and land immediately west of the range has been transferred from this forest to the Descanso district in San Diego county.

Stephenson, accompanied by his family, left Saturday to take up his duties in that county. He has been in charge of the Trabuco district for the past three years, coming here where he was located for several years preceding his taking over of this district.

Kenneth Munhall who has been ranger of the Oak Grove district at Oak Grove will take Stephenson's place in this forest.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 2.—The lack of places to discuss politics and the lack of open political meetings which would serve to educate the people along political lines is responsible for a great deal of the present corrupt conditions in government, according to J. Frank Burke, editor of The Register, who Friday addressed members of the local Rotary club.

Burke condemned the petty politicians interested in positions of influence and power only for personal reasons. He declared that a Republican or a Democrat is nothing more than a patriotic citizen.

That the barber shops and the saloons formerly were the places where politics were discussed was the contention of the speaker.

Prohibition left only the barber shops and now bobbed hair has driven most of the political conversation out of them, he said.

The certainty of the penalty would greatly assist law enforcement, Burke stated.

Mrs. L. Copely sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Margaret Colvin and by Mrs. R. Buchanan on the violin. Mrs. Buchanan pleased with violin selections. Harvey Young and A. J. Severo were chairmen of the program committee. The Rev. S. J. Rodgers and J. K. McDonald will be in charge of the meeting this week.

EVENING SALUTATION

When youthful Spring around us breathes,
Thy spirit warms her fragrant sigh.
And every flower that Summer wreathes
Is born beneath thy kindling eye.
Where'er we turn, thy glories shine,
And all things fair and bright are thine.
—Thomas Moore.

A WORD FOR THE SENATE

Silas Bent, the author of "Ballyhoo," a criticism of modern journalism, comes out with an article in praise of the Senate for its zeal in investigating governmental and social abuses existing in the country. Senator Bruce of Maryland observed recently that the Senate was at that time conducting eighteen different investigations, and that it was about time to stop. The expense, he said, was enormous, and a great deal of valuable time was being wasted.

Mr. Bent holds that the Senate is the only place in the country where free speech still survives. The newspapers knew all about the Teapot Dome scandals, but they maintained a criminal silence about it. The one journal which had the temerity to start an exposure was silenced with a million dollars. The Senate has brought to light facts about underlying and hidden forces inimical to the interests of the nation and the people which the newspapers have been forced to print.

The result from the most sordid point of view has been the saving of hundreds of millions of dollars. Two hundred and thirty millions of dollars cover all the expenditures made by the Senate since the foundation of the government for all its investigations. The amount returned to the government as a result of the oil scandal exposure will almost alone make up the sum incurred in the history of all Senate investigations since it came into being.

But greater than the money return has been the creation of a public conscience which cannot but make for cleaner and more efficient government. Nothing more wholesome has happened in our national life since the beginning of the government than the investigations of the Senate, not only of the oil scandals, but of conditions in the steel and more recently in the coal industry. It has been the only agency which has been able to arrest public opinion, and turn it into channels of protest and decency. The Senate today is about the only hope for popular expression. Its very structure makes it the voice of the minority. Nevada has an equal chance to be heard with New York. A democracy which does not hear and conserve the rights of minorities is headed for revolution. The Senate today is the stabilizer of our national life.

Before the constitutional amendment providing for the election of Senators by the people, the Senate was the stronghold of vested interests. Moneybags were in control. Only men of wealth, or men controlled by wealth, could ever expect to get a seat in the Senate. Today men of wealth, or men controlled by wealth, find it very difficult to get into that body. Those of us who have gotten beyond middle life will remember when the railroad men of the West, the mining interests of Montana, the lumber interests of Michigan and Wisconsin, and the gas interests of Delaware sent their representatives to the Senate. They did not bother themselves much about the house. There were no Johnsons, La Follettes, Walshes, Norrises, Dills, Wheelers, Nyes, Brookharts in the Senate in those days.

There should be no prejudice against constructive wealth, but the buccaneers who operated in the 50's and 60's, and 70's of the last century, and fattened at the expense of the people find it harder to operate. The Goulds, the Jim Fiskes, the Daniel Drews, and the early Vanderbilts have had their day, and the Senate is largely responsible for it.

THE OIL CONTROVERSY IN MEXICO
SETTLED AT LAST

After ten years of controversy and diplomatic note writing, almost leading to intervention in Mexico at one time, President Calles and Ambassador Morrow have signed an agreement concerning existing differences which removes the whole matter from the realm of controversy.

It may be recalled that the Mexican constitution and laws asserted the right of the government to all sub-surface resources such as oil and minerals. The oil companies claimed that they had been granted all rights to the oil beneath the surface when they acquired the land, and that the acts of the Mexican government were retroactive, and therefore void. The government of Mexico ruled that where lands thus acquired had been exploited by their owners and actual work had been begun to get out the oil, the law of 1917 did not apply. This the oil companies refused to accept, and appealed to the United States government for redress.

It is well known how the matter was dealt with by a former ambassador. Since Mr. Morrow went to Mexico, the whole matter has been reconsidered in a calm and discriminating way. A settlement has been arrived at in which no vital principle has been compromised by either party. Henceforth, those who acquire lands in Mexico do so with the understanding that they have not acquired the sub-soil resources, but where in good faith such lands have been acquired with all sub-soil rights before 1917, and the owners have actually begun to get out the oil before that date, these rights continue in perpetuity.

It is now incumbent upon all the holders of oil lands to register with the Mexican government, and where the rights under the settlement can be established, full authority will be given to extract the oil without leave or hindrance. This controversy might have been settled at any time within the last ten years had the United States been blessed with an ambassador in Mexico City of the stamp of Mr. Morrow.

Let us hope from now on that we will cease to hear about a Mexican question, that trade between the two people will be revived, and that Mexico may be free to work out her difficult problems without the irritations and hindrances of foreign interference.

SCOUR AND TRIM

Today marks the opening of clean-up and paint-up week for Santa Ana. It is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and in preparation for it a fine parade of the school children took place on Friday. The purposes of this week should be commended to all of our citizens. One of the remarkable attractions of the new cities here in the southwest is their cleanliness. In this climate, stucco and cement are at their best in building material. Our streets are kept in fine condition. There is not the smoke and soot and grime from bituminous coal that mars the cleanliness and beauty of eastern cities. The natural conditions favor the sustaining of the beauty and charm of our city.

The one thing needful is the co-operation of our citizens in doing their part in looking after the lawns, the yards, both front and back, and using paint wherever it is needed. This being done, it not only adds to the beauty of one's own home but adds markedly to the attractiveness of the entire street. All people know how one unsightly house, the lawn of which is unkempt, the approach of the driveway broken, shrubbery untrimmed, and the home unpainted, destroys the value of an entire street. We have noted at times when a new occupant has come to a home that has been neglected and puts in the place some taste and care and energy it changes the whole aspect of affairs for blocks.

We want to congratulate the Junior Chamber of Commerce on this epoch. They have already challenged the attention of the citizens with an interesting program. It was given a fine announcement in the pulpits yesterday. Everything has been done in a public way which can be done. Now let us, citizens, do our individual part.

DUELS WITH BOXING GLOVES

It does seem as if romance were dying out swiftly. The other day in Paris, two upper-class Frenchmen got into an argument that could only be settled on the field of honor. One challenged the other to a duel. The challenge was accepted, seconds were appointed and the usual arrangements were made.

But the weapons—ah, hearken! The Frenchmen fought, not with swords, nor even with pistols, but with—boxing gloves! They fought, we read, five rounds before they decided that honor was satisfied.

We submit that the world has come to a pretty pass when things like that can happen. To be sure, a duel with boxing gloves is ever so much more sensible than a duel with swords or pistols. But who in thunder wants to see duels conducted with common sense?

Romance is dead. All that remains is to open D'Artagnan's grave and see if he hasn't turned over.

Curious Commentary

Oakland Tribune
The slogan becomes complicated; we are now asked to save the redwoods from those for whom the redwoods are to be saved. In other words, a part of that general public which is benefited each time a tree or grove is rescued from the ax has been showing its appreciation by knocking off bark, nailing things to the trunks, and erecting in places of marvelous beauty camps and resorts of rank unsightliness.

A Deputy State Forester reports that the damage done to the trees by people for whom they have been saved presents a serious problem which must be met by the Government.

Their Inning

San Diego Union
Independent movie exhibitors, we are charmed to note, are not backward in taking advantage of the present eclipse of the Hon. Will H. Hays, custodian of the ethics and virtues of the motion-picture industry. They have often been aggravated by Mr. Hays' dicta, and have said so; but now they have a chance to obtain ready public attention for their criticisms. Mr. Hays was employed to give the industry a respectable front, and his rulings were once endowed with an aura of righteousness which made protest difficult. Now all is changed. Well, they say turn about is fair play.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

COUGHING CHILDREN

When a child begins to cough, a hard bronchial cough, when his eyes are watering and his voice is husky, put him in as pleasant a room as you have, plenty of sunshine, and keep him by himself. When you take him out to exercise walk to the nearest open space and keep him away from other children. Do not use the cars or busses.

When a child is beginning to develop whooping cough he coughs with this hard, bronchial hack, hack, and there is no way of telling that he has the whooping cough. It may be just an ordinary cold and not very serious, and it may be whooping cough. We have to wait and see.

Isolate the coughing child. When he coughs he is not well and the presence of people about him does not allow him the rest and composure that an ailing child ought to have. Give him as much fresh air and sunshine and clear water and good milk as you can. If he runs a temperature call the doctor without waiting longer.

But do try to keep him away from other children. Most people believe that whooping cough is spread in the early stages, when the child is having this first hard, short cough. Even if you do not believe this remember other people do and it is best then to keep your child apart until he ceases to cough.

If there are other children in the family protect them from the disease. It is foolish and worse to say, "He'll get it anyway. He may just as well have it now and get it over with."

It is not necessary for a child to have all the contagious diseases of childhood and if you can protect him do so. One child may have a very light attack of measles or whooping and give another child a very bad case of illness. There is no way of telling that the infection will be light and harmless. Nobody knows its possible power so everybody ought to avoid exposing children to any form of it.

Avoid taking little children into a crowd. The crowded cars are very bad places for little children, and bigger ones as well. Keep the babies at home in the cleanest air you can find for them. If you can have a place for them on the roof that is where they ought to be. Never in the street cars or busses.

A mother said, "I have sent my two children to a private school in order to avoid the large classes in the public schools. There is so much contagion among them." But the school sent a taxi for the little children and a dozen of them were piled in like hat boxes. Make sure that your prevention is preventing.

It is bad to have a fear of infection and contagion but it is wise to have a care, too. There is no sense in exposing children if we can help it. (Copyright, 1928, By the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

More Truth Than Poetry
By James J. Montague

GETTING BACK TO IT
When the evil called work has relinquished its grip
And I find it convenient once more
With my driver to deal the white pellet a clip
While I shout a stentorian "Fore!"
The beacon of joy should flame up in my breast,
My soul should be glad and elate
For after a fortnight of nothing but rest
I ought to be great.

I have practiced the shots every night in my bed,
I have thought as I belted my lunch
Of the many wise things the professional said
About giving the brassie a punch.
In the light of pure reason, I've looked at my faults
My sundry shortcomings I've seen
And figured out systems to make the pill waltz
In arcs up the green.

Moreover, when I am remote from the course,
I can see what a fool I have been
Forever to strive with a dull brutal force
In my dull witted efforts to win.
At my game from a sensible distance I gaze
And I see its fine points more and more
And therefore am able to figure out ways
To cut down my score.

But when once again I step out on the tee,
My nerves become terribly tense
And I'm forced to admit that a horror to me
Is the subsequent course of events.
I don't keep my eye, not to mention my mind,
On my clubs or the tee or the ball,
And in spite of my eager illusions I find
I can't play at all!

TOMORROW—THE WOLF.

We was eating suppr yestidday and my sister Gladdis sed, Well are you all bind or wat?

And she waved one hand to show there was a diamond ring on it, saying, I am officially engaged to be married, thank you for your kind attention.

G wizz, who to, Mr. Parkins? I sed.

Your a brite boy, Gladdis sed.
Meaning of course, and ma sed,
Well of all things, and pop sed,
So Parkins had the courage to come out with the big question at last.

Don't be silly, father, Gladis sed.
I decided it was about time we were engaged and I told him so, she sed.

How sweetly romantic, pop sed.
It makes me think of knites of old, and Sir Walter Scotts novels and things of that sort, he sed, and Gladdis sed, The engagement ring is open for inspection, izent
it a bew?

It looks like a real diamond from this distants, pop sed, and ma sed, Of course it is, wat elts could it be, its a flawless blue white diamond and it must wavy fully 2 carrots.

Thats jest wat it wavy, I went with him and helped him pick it out, Gladdis.

Yee gods, I suppose you meen you let him help you, pop sed, and Gladdis sed, Well yes, that mite be a more accurate description. He's a bit old fashion, by the way, and he insists on asking you for your permission, father, she sed.

Ah, that makes me feel quite important, wat will he do, call me up on the fone some time? pop sed, and Gladdis sed, No, hes going to ask you this very evening, in persin.

Well, ill always be glad to meet any feensay of yours, Im sure, pop sed.

And we kept on eating suppr,
being stake under onions.

Thoughts On Modern Life

ENEMIES OF EDUCATION

There are three things that come near to making education impossible in our schools.

These three enemies of education are, viz.:
Note-books.
Credits.
Examinations.

The note-book mania turns students into reporters instead of learners.

How long could a conversation between two intelligent men be kept alive and vital if one of the men kept his head bent over a note-book and his eyes intent on a racing pencil that was taking down all that the other man said?

The credit-mania turns students into prize hunters instead of learners.

An education fails that does not stimulate a disinterested quest of understanding; and yet our elaborate systems of grades and credits and diplomas tend to make students more interested in the attainment of marks than in the enrichment of their minds.

Authentic education is something more than teasing students to study by holding before them
the lure of a bon-bon at the end of an hour, a term, or a year.
No system of grades yet devised goes very far in measuring the actual education accomplishments of students. We are yearly perfecting our systems of credit. We are devising tests and techniques that go beyond a mere cross-examination of the student's ability to remember what the teacher said or the text-book contained, but we have done little to remove that primary concern about marks that so often turns the student aside from the deeper and broader concern for understanding.

The examination-mania turns students into professional witnesses instead of learners.

"Examination, like fire," said Thomas Huxley, "is a good servant but a bad master; and there seems to me to be some danger of its becoming our master."

Students appear to become deteriorated by the constant effort to pass this or that examination, just as ye hear of men's brains becoming affected by the daily necessity of catching a train.
They work to pass, not to know;
and outraged Science takes her revenge. They do pass, and they don't know."

This commuter-psychology that examinations induce means death to genuine education; the next great advance in education will lie in my judgment, come when we break the hold that note-books, credits and examinations have upon the schools; but this is a matter that cannot be met by minor tinkering with the systems themselves; it is a problem that sinks its roots in the larger problem of our educational objectives and teaching methods.

Again, Thomas Huxley made a suggestion that may help us here.
"The great end of life," he said,
"is not knowledge, but action."
What men need is as much knowledge as they can assimilate and organize into a basis for action; give them more and it may become injurious. One knows people who are as heavy and stupid from undigested learning as others are from overfulness of meat and drink."

If we really believe this, we should revolutionize our schools.

Supervise Storage Dams
Fresno Morning Republican

Probably some engineers and some managers of large properties think it "unfair" that the St.
Francis dam disaster should put all dams under suspicion.

Not only is this arousing of public fear inevitable. It may be of considerable public good.

We need a sort of insurance,
through suspicion and fear.

Remember the Iroquois theater fire! Remember the hundreds of lives lost, tortured to death in that disaster!

That was more than a quarter of a century ago. Yet today, fire departments, throughout the United States are acting under that stimulus. Patrons of theaters, in every town of the nation, are the safer because of the death of those citizens of Chicago. They suffered, for us.

Whereas, before that, efforts of public agencies to have better fire protection in public assemblies were treated with indifference and contempt, or scorn, after that the cries of the dying in the Chicago theater echoed in the ears of men in authority everywhere.

If every storage dam in the United States is today put under suspicion, as a result of the death of these men and women and children in Los Angeles county and in Ventura county, then their loss will not be in vain.

Every alteration by man of the face of nature may be too weak to last.

Even the hills, rockribbed and ancient as the sun, wear away.

What of the comparatively feeble walls that men erect and then put against them the weight of acres of water.

And remember, the protection in most of these cases is not the surety that can be seen and felt.
It is a surety that is figured out by mathematical tables, a strength that comes from an arrangement of curves and struts. This sort of a lake has the same relation to a natural lake that a room on the top of a skyscraper has to a cottage built on the top of a hill. The skyscraper may be actually stronger than the earth foundation for a cottage. But in the one case, your dependence is upon the contrivances of builders. In the other ease you are laying your faith upon the lasting forces of nature.

What men have built may decay. What men have built may have been built wrong.

Men's works, no matter how strongly certified, should be watched.

The storage dams of the entire country should be supervised, during the building and forever afterwards.

Dishonest Nations
Delay War's End
San Bernardino Sun

It is reported from Geneva that a general atmosphere of resentment prevailed among the diplomats at Russia and the United States bringing moral questions to the front.

Morals have nothing to do with diplomacy of the old school. Secrecy, insincerity, deceit and bad faith are the characteristics of diplomacy as the world has known it for ages. No diplomat of the old school, a school still in power, wants moral questions injected into international relations.

Honesty and good faith are moral attributes. Both were violated in the recent shipment of machine guns and war material from Italy to Hungary. By the treaty imposed upon Hungary at the end of the war she engaged not to arm herself and the allied nations pledged themselves to prevent her from doing so. This obligation was forced upon her. She accepted it under duress. There is small moral bad faith when she breaks it. But Italy was one of the powers that voluntarily framed and adopted the treaties and imposed the obligation upon Hungary and herself. For her to violate the treaty secretly is an act of extreme bad faith.

It is such acts as this which diplomats point to when they say it is not safe to disarm, because some nations might not observe the disarmament treaty in good faith.
However, a treaty outlawing war is better than no treaty at all, and a supplemental treaty for gradual disarmament ought to be possible. The old idea of insincere and deceptive international relations can not continue forever. Sometime the world will have to get on an honest international basis, and now is a good time to begin.
